Election sought on ambulance plan

By Scott Cousins
Staff writer

Pontoon Beach officials are discussing the possibility of holding two advisory referendums in the spring elections.

The referendums — on ambulance service and trash pickup — were discussed at a special meeting Thursday.

Both referendums are issues being considered by larger groups.

The Long Lake and Mitchell fire protection districts — along with Pontoon Beach, and Nameoki and Chouteau townships — recently formed a committee to preserve ambulance service. Alternatives include the possibility of creating an ambulance district.

The village and Nameoki Township have also been considering hiring a single trash collector for the entire township.

The ambulance district is being considered because of the difficulty in keeping an ambulance company in the area to provide service.

Over the summer, LifeForce Paramedic Ambulance Service sent a letter to local officials saying they were pulling out of Madison County because it was losing money.

The company later agreed to continue service, but company president Jerry Wimmering said an ambulance district was the only way to guarantee continued service.

Justice Mike Macek said such a district for Pontoon Beach is complicated because some village land is already in several other fire or ambulance districts.

Although most of the village is in the Long Lake Fire Protection District, Macek said small sections are served by firefighters from Edwardsville, Glen Carbon, State Park Place and Collinsville.

While most of the areas being served by other districts are undeveloped, Macek said that might not always be the case.

"We have to look to the future," he said. "The undeveloped areas will be developed some day."

Macek said another concern is how much tax revenue might be collected, and how it would be spent.

"I want people in Pontoon Beach to pay for their own services," he said. "I don't want to subsidize other areas."

The trash service referendum is being considered because of recycling mandates imposed on and by Madison County.

In November, voters in the Post office handling extra mail

By Bob Slate
Staff writer

Area residents have only a few more mailing days left before Christmas, Granite City Postmaster Charlie Parkinson says.

"I am confident we can get just about anything delivered in the United States (before Christmas) if it is in the mail before the weekend," Parkinson said. "But if they wait until next weekend to mail a card or package, it could get caught in the biggest rush of the year."

Christmas is traditionally the busiest time of year for postal workers.

On a typical Monday, for example, the Granite City Post Office delivers about 63,000 pieces of mail, Parkinson said.

But on Monday of this week — a full two weeks before the actual holiday — Granite City carriers delivered about 100,000 pieces of mail.

"And the (walk-up) window has been exceptionally busy," Parkinson said.

Business is expected to pick up before it lets up, he said.

While the St. Louis post office handled 2.7 million pieces of mail Monday, officials there are projecting 3.2 million pieces next Monday, Parkinson said.

He said that reports of sluggish retail business may be responsible for a large increase in mail advertisements this year.

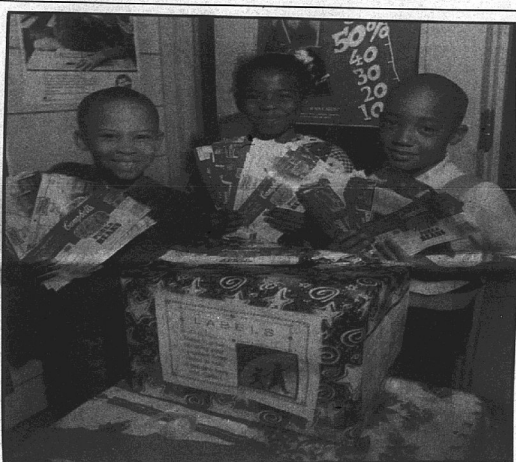

Parkinson is not putting on extra workers to accommodate the extra business, he said.

But several employees are working overtime and he is scheduling extra runs to St. Louis to get outgoing mail into the stream, he said.

The Granite City Post Office is remaining open for extended hours during the holiday season. Hours are 8:30 a.m. to 6 p.m. Monday through Friday, 8:30 a.m. to 3 p.m. Saturday and noon to 3 p.m. Sunday.

The post office will also be

Blair Elementary School students, from left, Kenneth Douglas, first grade; Carliha Sullivan, third grade; and Ulysses Williams, second grade, have been collecting Campbell's soup labels for the school's drive to earn playground equipment.

Students seek labels

By Scott Cousins
Staff writer

Soup is good food — and for students at Blair School in Madison, it may also mean new playground equipment.

The school has started a drive to collect labels from Campbell's Soup products. Those labels can then be traded in as part of the company's Labels for Education program.

The program, started in 1973, offers approximately 1,200 different items — everything from softballs to computer systems — in exchange for the labels.

Teacher Christine Kelly, who is heading the drive, said the school hopes to obtain playground equipment with the labels.

"With the financial difficulties the district has, we haven't had money to purchase playground equipment for some time," she said.

The program runs annually from October to March.

Holbrook, Davis to seek re-election

By Bonita Tillman
Staff writer

The two members of the state House who represent most of Granite City have announced plans to seek re-election next year.

Rep. Thomas Holbrook of Belleville and Steve Davis of Bethalto said they would file for re-election. Both are Democrats.

Holbrook said he would continue the fight for residents of the 12th District to get the state's first school district to pass when the vote first school district

Crime remains the number one issue with residents Holbrook said he has talked to, but he said there is a small shift toward what services the state provides.

"I seem to get a pretty good cross section of everybody at the town hall meetings," he said.

Medicaid reimbursements to hospitals also has created a storm of concern because of the possibility that they may be cut, forcing hospitals to close and numerous job losses, he said.

Holbrook said the toughest part of his job over the last three years has been dealing with "extreme partisanship" in the state legislature, but he said he hopes it will get better.

"I'm more used to trying to work with everybody to do what's best for the majority of people, not trying to get what's best only for a few," he said.

Holbrook said he would continue the fight for residents of the 12th District to get the state's first school district to pass when the vote first school district

Holbrook, Davis
Despite that, however, Holbrook said he has been able to proceed with some of the issues that his constituents sent him to Springfield to resolve. A truth-in-sentencing bill and more restrictions on prison inmates were some of his chief accomplishments.

The sentencing bill requires anyone convicted of murder to serve 100 percent of the sentence they are given and the other bill took free postage privileges from prisoners.

Although Holbrook said he would have liked for prisoners to pay for more services they get, such as karate instructions and weight rooms, more may be done in the next session.

"A half a loaf is better than none," he said. "I'll go for the rest of the loaf later."

Davis formally announced his bid for a second term from the 11th District

West Madison program

Holiday party Saturday

By Scott Cousins
Staff writer

Children will get a chance to visit Santa, play games, sing Christmas carols and receive gifts and prizes at the third annual Christmas in West Madison Saturday.

The children's Christmas party will be held from 11 a.m. to about 3 p.m. at the West Madison Memorial Center, 901 West Washington St., Madison.

The program is sponsored by the Concerned Citizens of West Madison, and is open to children ages 1-11.

Registration will be from 11 to 11:20 a.m., followed by games and activities. Lunch will begin at noon. After lunch, there will be more games, stories and songs, and finally a Christmas story.

"Afterwards the children will be treated to a special visit from Santa, who will have a photograph taken with each child, give them a goodie bag filled with special treats, and present each with a gift selected especially for them," said Renee Garrett, chairperson of the program.

All the items are donated by local businesses, government or private citizens.

Man fights police, railroad workers

By Scott Cousins
Staff writer

A Missouri man was charged with several misdemeanors after an apparently drunken fight with police and railroad employees Friday morning.

Carlos Caddo, 24, of St. Ann, Mo., was charged with assault, criminal trespass and two counts of resisting an officer by Venice police Friday. He was released on bond Sunday evening, according to police.

According to police reports, at about 9 a.m. police received a call that an intoxicated man was causing a disturbance in front of Ray's Tire Shop, 1430 Broadway in Venice. By the time officers arrived, the man had left in the direction of the Illinois Terminal property.

Police later received a request for assistance from terminal police.

According to reports Caddo was walking on the top of a moving train and creating a disturbance. He then allegedly entered a locomotive and locked the doors.

A railroad employee was able to open one of the windows, and Caddo dove out, striking his head.

He then attempted to get away, but was restrained by police from the railroad, Madison and Venice, with the help of several railroad workers. Police said it took about seven people to hold Caddo down.

Police used pepper mace on Caddo while attempting to place him into a Venice police car. He was taken to St. Elizabeth Medical Center, where he was treated and released.

Sgt. Theo Adams of the Venice Police Department said Caddo told them the last thing he remembered was being at a Saugee nightclub, and then leaving for home.

Venezia to lose $7.5 million

20-year sentence also possible

By Bob Slate
Staff writer

Convicted racketeer Thomas Venezia of Belleville and his company must pay the federal government $7.5 million, a jury ruled last week.

The penalty, imposed under the federal racketeering statute, must be paid in addition to property interests already seized by the government. That property includes Stages nightclub in Madison, 101 S. First Street, 123 S. Main Street and the 101 Club, all in Belleville; Cheeks and Main Street topless nightclubs in Washington Park; and more than a hundred video poker and slot machines.

Venezia was convicted Dec. 2 of racketeering, conspiracy to commit racketeering, operating an illegal gambling business, and conspiracy to defraud the Internal Revenue Service.

He is in jail awaiting sentencing in March and faces up to 20 years in prison in addition to the hefty fine imposed.

A federal jury in East St. Louis found that Venezia, through his company B&H Vending, placed video poker and slot machines in Metro East taverns, encouraged tavern owners to pay off on the machines legally only for entertainment purposes — and split the profits with tavern owners.

During the forfeiture aspect of the trial, prosecutors claimed that Venezia and his company netted more than $11 million in profits from 1988 to 1994.

Venezia's wife, Erin Griffin Venezia, who officially holds the liquor license at Stages, and his former wife, Sandra Nations Venezia, both of Belleville, and Art Mowe of Caseyville were also convicted of gambling. They each face up to five years in prison.

If Venezia fails to come up with the $7.5 million fine, the government could place liens on other property in which he has an ownership interest. That includes Laclede Cab Co., several luxury and sport utility vehicles, a pickup truck, two vans, his home in Belleville and a ranch just outside of Belleville.

U.S. Attorney Charles Grace said in a written statement that the verdict should send a message to illegal gambling enterprises that "the stakes can be very high" and that illegal gambling "will not be tolerated" in southern Illinois.

City hall, tax levy on agenda for Madison

By Scott Cousins
Staff writer

The Madison City Council will meet tonight to discuss the renegotiated purchase of the new city hall.

The council will also discuss the 1995 tax levy.

The special meeting is scheduled for 7 p.m. at the council chambers.

Last week the council authorized City Attorney Casper Nighohossian to renegotiate the purchase of the Lahey-Sedlak Funeral Home at 615 Madison Ave.

The action was taken after the council met in executive session with real estate agent Janet Partney. The building is owned by Bob Thomas of Granite City.

City officials said that an inspection of the building ordered in November showed several problems.

Mayor John Bellcoff said Friday that Nighohossian had been negotiating with Thomas during the week.

In October, the council approved the purchase of the building. The cost was set at $120,000, with renovations expected to bring the total cost to $300,400,000.

Part of the cost of renovation — work required to comply with the Americans With Disabilities Act — would be paid with a $107,000 grant from Madison County Community Development.

That grant was originally to be used to install an elevator at the present city hall, located at 1529 Third St. The elevator would have made the council chambers and other offices on the second floor handicapped accessible, but there were problems with tying the elevator into the existing building and the cost was more than expected.

Figures on the tax levy were not available.

Judges seek re-election

All incumbent area circuit judges whose terms expire next year have filed to be on the ballot for retention.

The deadline for filing statements of candidacy with the Illinois Secretary of State's office for the November 1996 election was Monday.

In the Third Circuit, which includes Madison County, Judges Nicholas G. Byron, Edward C. Ferguson and Philip J. Kardis will ask voters to keep them in office for new six-year terms.

Circuit judges run for the first time on partisan ballots with opponents but then run for retention every six years without party designation or opponent. They must receive at least a 60 percent favorable vote to remain in office.

Calvary Pentecostal Assembly will present its outdoor "Living Nativity" from 6 to 8 p.m. Thursday through Saturday.

The nativity will feature full-size figures of Mary, Joseph and Jesus in a rustic stable. The characters depict the setting of Jesus' birth.

Special music and readings presented will chronicle the Bible account. Complimentary hot chocolate will be provided for the visitors.

The program started three years ago after Garrett and others decided to do something for the community.

"We wanted to have a vehicle to bring everybody together," she said. "It helps to bring everyone together in our small community. You get to know who your neighbor is, and who's child belongs to who."

That evening the group will also sponsor their annual Christmas caroling and wieners/marshmallow roast.

Participants will leave the center at 6:30 p.m. for caroling.

Commencement at SIUE Saturday

Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville will conduct a fall commencement ceremony Saturday for the first time in its 38-year history. More than 750 students are candidates for degrees in the ceremony that will begin at 10 a.m. in the Vadalabene Center. SIUE President Nancy Bolck will confer the degrees, and Professor Donald Baden, associate dean of the School of Education, will deliver the commencement address. SIUE decided earlier this year to conduct commencement ceremonies at the end of each academic term rather than holding an annual event. In August, the University conducted its first summer commencement in nearly 20 years.

My view

Service economy
lacking servers

According to government statistics, in the last decade our country has converted from a primarily manufacturing economy to a service-based economy. Compared with 25 years ago, there are now nearly 40 percent more workers in service jobs, while jobs in mining, manufacturing and construction are flat or declining.

I certainly can't argue with such compelling statistics, but I have one question: If there are all these people allegedly providing services, where the heck are they?

Years ago when one picked up a telephone, a real, live operator answered your questions and placed your call. Now telephone operators, if they really do exist, apparently have unlisted numbers.

When I was a kid, if you were sick you went to bed and called your family doctor. If he felt your symptoms were serious, he came out to the house to check you out. I wonder how many house calls were made by doctors last week?

It wasn't long ago when you pulled your car into a gas station attendant filled your tank, checked your oil and cleaned your windshield. The gas station attendants have gone the way of phone operators and just vanished. Maybe they all ran off together.

I still remember being sent out to pick up the milk from our doorstep where the deliveryman had left it before sunrise. And the cleaner's deliveryman used to pick up anything going to the cleaners and return it after it was cleaned. Where have all these people gone?

When I was a child, admittedly not a recent event, my mother would give me a note and send me to the corner grocery. He would read the note, fill the order and send me on my way with a smile. If I walked into a store today and handed the clerk a note, he probably would think it was a stickup.

Letter to the editorClassrooms, not battlegrounds

TO THE EDITOR:
Our nation's future leaders are those children who are sitting in today's classrooms. Unfortunately these future leaders are growing up in an educational system plagued by violence.

Positive changes are needed to instill in our children the idea that a world of tomorrow could and would be a better place to live.

One of the most depressing aspects of the school system in the United States is the degree of violence that has plagued the educational system.

Our schools are being forced to have security guards both inside and outside of school buildings. They also are being forced to keep most inner and outer doors locked, for the fear of unwanted visitors freely roaming the hallways.

A possible solution to these problems would be to initiate a program to man the schools with parents and other volunteers to watch over the children as they pass from class to class.

At the Langton Avenue Elementary School in California the students have a new meaning to the fire bell.

When the students hear the bell they know to proceed back to their classrooms and take cover. The ringing of the bell is a signal that there is gunfire outside the elementary school.

Unfortunately, our nation's future leaders may be facing the possibility of an educational breakdown or even a school system in chaos due to violence in our classrooms.

Hopefully, positive changes will come through our education system to provide these future leaders with the hope of a better tomorrow and a sound educational environment.

Our classrooms need to become a learning center and not a battleground.

and trigger the alarm.

A few years ago a thermostat on a relatively new, very expensive built-in oven broke. My wife and I searched for weeks to find a service person who could and would come to the house to repair it. After months of frustration, I tore it out and bought a new oven. Apparently none of the supposedly 59.6 million Americans working in the service industry is an oven serviceman or woman.

Interestingly enough, one service still survives relatively unchanged. Twice each week, more than 400 newspaper carriers deliver a total of 1.6 million Suburban Journal newspapers to homes throughout the St. Louis metropolitan area. They do this at no charge to the recipients.

This fact makes me very nervous. Nobody but newspapers still offer the same service as they did 10, 20 or 30 years ago. We must be crazy. Newspapers must be doomed in today's no-service "service economy."

Better get yours before it's too late.

Limited funding on the quality of education in the country today," the company says in a statement. "Campbell's Labels for Education was originally created and tested as a socially-minded promotional program. A major intention was to help schools that had suffered severe budget cuts. The program was so successful that it was expanded into a nationwide program."

Kelly said the school began its drive in November after a local resident donated labels she had been saving.

"Rose Cooper of Venice has been saving them for years," Kelly said.

So far, the school has about 500 labels. By March, she said they want to have about 30,000. "Hopefully we'll finish by March," she said. "If not, we can save them for next year."

She said the school is considering using the labels to obtain balls, jump ropes and other similar equipment for use on the playground.

Included in the program are more than 1,200 products, including Campbell's, Franco-American, V8, Prigo, Swanson, Mrs. Paul's, Viasic, Pepperidge Farm, Marie's, Open Pit and Pace.

Kelly said any help would be appreciated, and labels can be dropped off at the school, 1040 College Avenue, Madison, between 8 a.m. and 4 p.m. Monday through Friday.

For more information, contact Kelly or Principal Bernard Long at 876-4818.

unincorporated sections of the township overwhelmingly voted against a similar referendum.

The village has the authority to seek a single trash hauler and had prepared bid specifications, but Macek said many residents had complained.

"Since that time people in the village have told us they didn't want this," he said.

The board also approved an insurance package with Lueders Agency of Granite City for $30,300.

Trustee Gus Falter, chairman of the board's Finance Committee, said the package includes all the village's insurance, except for workman's compensation.

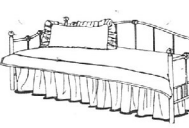

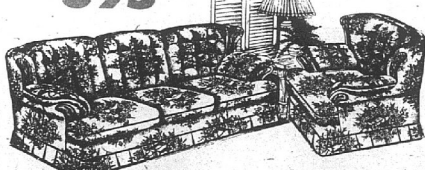

He said the package had to be approved at the special meeting because the old policy was due Sunday.

Referee Daniels back in action

On a December evening when I made my annual visit to the Belleville Alhott-FTHS West girls basketball clash, you would have thought my attention would have been totally on the game's action.

Sorry, my focus was on referee Ted Daniels, and unless you appreciate the fact that Mr. Daniels of O'Fallon apparently has the edge in his battle with cancer, you probably won't enjoy Christmas either.

When this column last led with reference to the 49-year-old French teacher at East St. Louis Senior High School, it was the summer of 1994 and Ted was headed for surgery on July 6 due to a cancerous thyroid gland.

That was the first of three operations he would undergo with the dates of July 22 and Oct. 22 as easy for Ted to remember as the years he has worked state finals in girls softball and basketball and boys high school and American Legion baseball.

Amazingly, five months after his October surgery, he officiated the girls state Class A finals in Bloomington.

"I'd like to work two more years of girls basketball and say I have 20 years in before someone starts saying the game has passed me by," Ted said between halves of the Alhott-FTHS game.

An outstanding athlete and all-state football player at East Bank High in West Virginia where Jerry West of basketball fame gave the school identity, Daniels still is able to get up and down the field as quick as a cat and down the field as quick as a cat and down the field as quick as a cat.

"I'm getting better all the time," he said of his speech that has improved with therapy.

Faced with physical checkups every six months, Ted admitted he was looking forward not just to a busy schedule of boys and girls basketball season but to this holiday season.

"I've got much to be thankful for," he said as Alhott athletic director Glenn Schott beckoned Ted and official Tom Wolf of Mechanicsburg, Ill., back to the court.

Specifically, Daniels referred to doctors John Boeren and Murray McGready of Belleville and Bruce Hauney of St. Louis (Barnes Hospital).

"There are others, though," he added. "My wife Ruth... and God."

OVERTIME: Alhott made an incredible 18-4 run from early in the fourth quarter to rally past West, 59-48, despite playing without center Sarah Woolsey, who was absent due to illness.

Senior Jill Gormic, who led all scorers with 18, remains the stability of the Alhott attack while sophomore Erin Keefe, who led West with 13, is destined to develop into the 3-point scoring threat that her brother Sean was a few years ago for the Maroon boys.

If raising their record to 6-1 was some kind of a 1995-96 statement by Alhott, the Crusader girls can express even more Dec. 19 in a home contest against Okawville — which like Alhott and West will also be entered in the annual Mascoutah Holiday Tournament.

EXTRA INNINGS: Belleville Area College baseball Coach Neil Fiala continues to take recruiting strides with Southwestern Illinois area high schools.

In a recent letter to coaches, Fiala noted information on four seasons of baseball clinics with information available by contacting him at 618-226-2700 (ext. 271).

He also points to last season's school record 41-win total at BAC as contributing to 10 sophomores moving to four-year schools.

GC hoops revamp strategy

By Rob Raphael
Staff writer

Without Kyle Briggs in the lineup, Granite City has had to retool their basketball strategy.

Briggs, who was injured in a soccer tryout last week, will be out until after Christmas with a sprained knee. Fearing to be very serious at first, the knee will not require surgery.

WITHOUT ONE of their ballhandlers, the Warriors have had to turn up the defense in the two games they have missed Briggs. Again on Saturday, that defense was there, but again the opportunities were missed.

The result was a hard-fought 46-39 loss to the Edwardsville Tigers, in a nonconference game played at Edwardsville.

The Warriors can honestly say they've played good defense in all their games, but don't have a win to show for it. Key mistakes hurt the Warriors in their opener against Triad, and poor shooting was the culprit Friday against East Side. On Saturday, it was mistakes again the hurt Granite City.

"WE HAD THE LEAD on late, and we just self-destructed," said Warriors coach John Van Buskirk. "We didn't do the good things we need to do to win in that final period. We only scored five points in the fourth quarter." In fact, after rallying from an eight-point first-quarter deficit, the Warriors trailed by only two at the intermission, and by just one after three periods.

BUT EDWARDSVILLE (2-1) outscored the Warriors 11-5 in the final eight minutes to seal their fate. Stefan Nicholson, the only returning starter from last year's team, led the Tigers with 15 points. Ryan Jumper added 12 points.

Granite City was led by Steve Logan's 11 points, including three 3-pointers.

"You don't expect a guy like Steve to hit the 3-pointer, but he comes up with three of them," said Van Buskirk. "He was very good again, and he worked extremely hard for us." (See STRATEGY, Page 2B)

Warriors heat up season

Coach: 11-0
Team can improve

By Rob Raphael
Staff writer

The Granite City Warriors improved to 11-0 in dual competition over the weekend as they slided their way to Campaign on Friday for a triangular meet.

With snow falling and the wind howling, the Warriors generated their own heat, despite their always changing lineup.

Although Granite City is rated No. 1 in the state, even coach Mike Garland admits his team is hardly that right now.

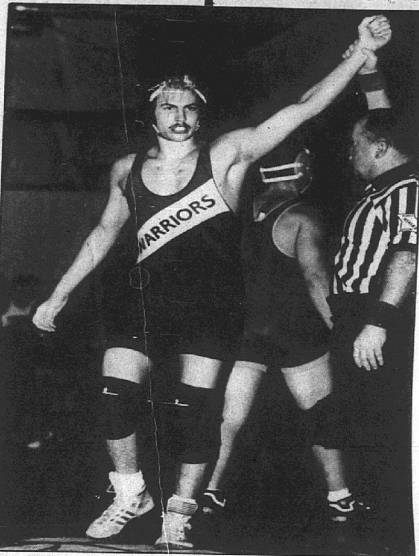

"With the players we're missing and the younger ones we've got in the lineup, it's almost like we're building for the future, even though we're not supposed to be doing that," he said.

"It's still early, and it's a long season. We have to put all of the negatives out of our minds and concentrate on the positives."

Despite the revolving door that is the Warriors' lineup, they still came back with a pair of wins as they defeated Champaign Centennial 45-21 and Springfield Lamphier 39-19.

The good news for Granite City is that John Kelly, who at one time was thought to have the chicken pox, was back in at 112 pounds and won a 5-0 decision against Centennial's Peter Haydel.

But the Warriors' (See HEAT, Page 2B)

Granite City's D.J. Lusitic lifts for cancer victim

By Rob Raphael
Staff writer

With a little luck, Danny (D.J.) Lusitic will be lifting more than just weight during the next couple of weeks.

Lusitic, a Granite City native who attends Marquette High School in Alton, is a big part of a grand effort to raise money for cancer victim Chase Mabery, 4, of St. Louis.

A 17-year-old senior, Lusitic, who besides playing on the Explorers football team is also captain of the weightlifting team, will join his friends for a fund-raising effort this month. There are two weeks left in the event, which was to go on for a total of four weeks at Marquette.

The lifters are taking sponsors who will help support a fund for the young Mabery. Sponsors of the Liftathon can sponsor the lifters by the pound or by the ton. The group is hoping to lift over 500 tons and raise at least $2,000 by the end of the event.

Helping D.J. is his father, Daniel, who happens to be the instructor of the weightlifting team at Marquette. A former Mr. Missouri and Mr. St. Louis, the elder Lusitic trained professionally for 10 years before becoming a truck driver, eventually for the Schnucks grocery chain in Bridgeton.

It was there the drivers heard about Mabery's condition and decided they wanted to help. Daniel Lusitic immediately thought about the Liftathon.

"Before we all went to

D.J. Lusitic and his friends hope to lift 500 tons for Chase Mabery.

Schnucks we were working for National," he said. "One of our drivers was Tom Mabery, Chase's grandfather. So we talked to the family and asked if there was anything we could do. This is just our way to help out, and gives the guys something to lift for, to make them push even harder."

"I like the idea," said D.J. Lusitic. "We're working out four times a week, and we're lifting about 30 tons per workout. If we can get people to donate one cent or two cents a ton, with all of us lifting for a month we can raise a lot of money."

D.J. said he and his teammates lift two or more hours every day for days a week.

Besides the personal fulfillment, the time spent lifting for charity also goes toward D.J.'s 20 hours of (See LUSITIC, Page 3B)

Lifter hopes to kick at SIUC

By Rob Raphael
Staff writer

Besides his weight-lifting, D.J. Lusitic also has another hobby he's pretty good at.

Lusitic was named to the first-team All South Central Conference as a kicker this past season. The voting was done by the coaches in the conference, and their choice for kicker was unanimous.

Lusitic's main claim to fame was on his kickoffs, which consistently went into or out of the end zone. It was a weapon which helped the Alton Marquette Explorers to a second-place finish in the conference at 4-5.

He is modest when talking about his kicking exploits.

"I know I had 13 kicks go out of the end zone," he said. "I really don't know how many field goals or extra points I made, but I had a decent year."

He started his high school athletic career playing soccer during his freshman and sophomore years at Marquette.

In his junior year, he switched to football, as he quickly became the starting kicker for the junior varsity team. As a senior, he was the Explorers' starting kicker at the varsity level.

He said the Explorers had a decent year, although they were hoping for a little more. "I guess going 4-5 is OK, but I think we could have done better. Finishing second in the conference was a good way to finish the year."

As a senior, he is already thinking about his college career, and he said he would like to continue playing football at the next level.

"I would like to play at SIUC Carbondale," Lusitic said.

"And I would prefer to stick to football."

Lusitic in uniform for the Marquette Explorers.

I'm happy doing that. He also said he would like to continue kicking, even though he seems to be big enough and strong enough to play on most defensive or offensive lines.

Lusitic has lifted over 500 pounds, and he holds the school record for a lift of 515 (See KICK, Page 3B)

6-0 Gators conference champions

The 1995 Grigsby Gators recently completed an outstanding 6-0 season, picking up the City and Madison County Conference championships.

The Gators outscored their opponents 172-38 in the six games, averaging over 28 points per game while allowing only a little more than six points per game.

Coached by Nick Petrillo and Greg Garland, the Gators won their second consecutive City crown with a 26-14 victory over rival Coldgate at Memorial Stadium.

The game was highlighted by outstanding plays, both offensively and defensively, by each team. These future high school Warriors played an replacement while Kelly was out — Ben Loftin — has proven to be one of the younger wrestlers who have added enthusiasm to the fold. The other freshman who has seen varsity action, Kevin Vene, has also wrestled well. Also in the mix have been youngsters like Adame Dunnivant (8-3) at 105 pounds, although he has dropped three straight matches.

Jonas Janek improved his record to 9-3 with his fifth fall of the year against Centennial's Josh Johaneck. Sophomore like Newman has filled in admirably, and is 6-2 on the year with three falls.

WITH CHRIS JANEK on an official visit to the University of Missouri on Friday, Nick Campbell saw his first varsity action of the year.

Janek is one of four Warriors wrestlers who remain unbeaten. Bobby Chaulsett (11-0) with eight wins by fall, and Jeff Estrada is also 11-0 with five wins by fall.

Kevin Feigenbutz lost a hard-fought match to Civic Memorial's Jake Sullivan last week, but he's still 10-1 with seven pins.

But so far, the most dominant Warrior has been Jason Wilson (16-0), who is a perfect 11-0 with all 11 wins by fall.

John Vene, who normally would wrestle this year at 171 pounds, would likely be undefeated as well, but he was moved up to 189 this weekend and lost a pair of matches, one to Lamphier's state place winner Damian Doss. Still, the older Vene is 9-2 with seven pins.

"He did great just wrestling Doss as well as he did," said Garland. "He took him down two times, but he ran out of time. You can actually take more out of match like that and use it to your advantage than you can winning several easy matches."

"You can see where the conditioning comes into play. I'm pleased with his performance, and that's why he's a captain. He didn't complain or hesitate to move up into that spot. He said to just put him wherever I needed him. He gives up himself for the team, and that's what we need."

THE DECIDING MOMENT in the Centennial matchup was in the middle weights, after the teams were tied at 9. Feigenbutz, Jonas Janek and David Thompson reeled off three straight wins by fall to give the Warriors a 27-9 lead.

Pins by Wilson and Newman helped secure the win in the upper weights.

Against Lamphier, the Warriors again used their wins by fall to outpoint their opponent. The Warriors won just seven of the 13 matches, but scored by pin or forfeit on six of them.

Strategy
"They played man-to-man on Jay (Simpson), so they had someone on him all the time. That's the reason he didn't score a lot, and it's not his fault. They just weren't going to let Jay beat them."

Dustin Brewer added 10 points, along with 12 rebounds, and Bobby Ellis and Jeff Wallis each added seven to round out the Granite City scoring. Rebounding was one of the Warriors' strong points.

We did that well, and we held them to just one shot for the most part. We just made costly mistakes at the end of the game, and I'll take the blame for that."

As for Briggs, Van Buskirk said some people might not realize how valuable he is. "We just don't have anybody else in the program that can do the things he does. Although Kyle hasn't been a great scorer before, he will be a score offense."

And he handles the ball so well, and directs people on the court in pressure situations. He understands the game in critical situations. We have the overall talent to still play well without him, but there's no doubt we miss him."

pounds. But he added kicking is what he likes to do, and that stems from his soccer background.

He is also clear on what he would like to study at Carbondale, "I definitely would like to go into law enforcement," he said. "And my preference would be to go to Carbondale to study that. I want to stay fairly close to home, and hopefully I could come back to this area and work in that field."

service he's required to give each year as part of the Marquette curriculum. Marquette students need 80 such hours to graduate.

"I'm glad about that, but mostly I'm excited about doing it for Chase," D.J. said. The teammates that will be lifting with D.J. are Mike Gernig, Tony Hollinger and Kris Doucy.

It's not too late to help with this cause. The lifters will be working the rest of this week and all of next week. Anyone who is interested in donating should call Marquette High School and talk to the athletic department.

All monies received go into a special account at Mercantile Trust in St. Louis, set up especially for Chase. In fact, the account is in his name.

The drivers at Schnucks have already donated $5,000 to the fund, and it is hoped $2,000 can be added by the lifters. "I'm not sure if a school or a team's ever done anything quite like this," said Daniel Lusicic.

He added it's a special feeling to be coaching his son. "It's going real well, and it feels good to be coaching D.J. and the rest of the guys. I like doing it, and it's really no different than doing anything else with him. We do a lot of things together."

"It was a strange feeling at first, but it was easy to get used to," D.J. said. "We all know that he knows what he's talking about, and we're all just good friends."

"We work on a lot of different things, like strength training, or enhancement techniques," said Daniel. "It never gets too boring for them."

exciting game before a large crowd.

The fourth quarter saw the Gators holding on to preserve the win. Grigsby's Jason Newman became a one-man wrecking crew on defense and accounted for all but two of the 26 points scored by the Gators by rushing for four touchdowns. Demetrius Edmond added the other two points, catching a conversion pass from Zach May.

In the other games, Grigsby opened their season against East Alton with a 39-18 win. The Gators led 30-0 at one point, as Kevin Elliott scored a pair of touchdowns. Newman added a scoring run, and Edmond and Justin Jones also scored. Nathan White accepted a 2-point conversion pass from May.

IN THE SECOND WEEK, the Gators clubbed Bethalto 36-0 in the Grigsby home opener. Newman, Elliott, May and Chris Kayich all scored touchdowns. In week three, the Gators seemed to score at will with a 48-0 whitewash of Roxana. Edmond was the star of that game, with four touchdowns—including one on a kickoff return.

A tough defensive battle resulted in week four, as the Gators took on previously undefeated Edwardsville. Still, Grigsby prevailed 6-0, as Newman scored the only touchdown and Richie Skirball saved the game with an outstanding defensive play late in the game.

ANOTHER UNBEATEN team, Jerseyville, visited the Gators in week five, and once again the Gator defense was the difference. Grigsby won that one 18-0, as Newman scored twice.

That led to the annual battle for city bragging rights in week six.
Newman led the Gators with 78 points on 12 TDs and three extra points. Edmond was second with 36 points, and Elliott was third with 28 points.

Kayich finished with 14 points on the year, followed by May, Jones and White.

Central Christian Church plans variety of Advent celebrations

The season of Advent will be celebrated in a number of ways by the members of Central Christian Church. Each Sunday leading up to Christmas, a candle will be lit on the Advent wreath to express the Christian desire for "God to Be With Us" as everyone yearns for the birth of the Christ child. The Christmas worship celebration will begin on Sunday, Dec. 17, as members, friends and visitors gather for breakfast, planned by Central's community life committee, chaired by Karen Gray. Following the meal, the church superintendent, John Caloway, will direct the children of the church as they present a reading entitled "The Best Gift." Worship service, "The Meaning of Christmas," will start in the sanctuary at 10:45 a.m. with a musical introit by the church choir, "He is Born," directed by Joe Hanson.

Central's annual Christmas dinner party, which will be held at 6:30 p.m. at Jerry's Cafeteria, will round out the day's events.

Tips on caring for Holiday Plants from the experts at FRANK'S®

Have you ever had the opportunity to enjoy a real living Christmas tree in your home? Probably not. Fresh-cut tree in the house? Not quite. In reality, a fresh-cut tree no longer has a root system, so technically it can't be considered a living tree. However, a Norfolk Island Pine is.

The Norfolk Island Pine has been a popular Christmas plant for many years. It won't rise toward the ceiling like a standard tree, but its elegant branches of tiny, soft needles can provide a multitude of decorating opportunities with miniature ornaments.

This is a real, living plant, so it must be treated as such. It prefers medium light from an east or west window. It has a tendency to bend toward the light, so rotating it periodically is a good idea. This will allow it to keep its full shape. The Norfolk Island Pine grows best in well-drained potting soil and should be watered when the top inch or two of the soil dries.

The real beauty of the Norfolk Island Pine is the fact that it doesn't have to be discarded once the holidays have passed. Like we said, it's a living plant and will continue to grow and thrive. Remove the holiday ornaments and you have a beautiful houseplant that can be enjoyed all year.

The plant should be fed every two weeks from April to September. This will allow it to stay its lush, greenest best, ready to be decorated and enjoyed next year!

Frank's carries a great selection of miniature ornaments, and they're ideal for adorning Norfolk Island Pines. Here's a suggestion: Pick up more than one plant if you have children. Each child can have his or her very own personal living Christmas tree that can be decorated any way they please. Great family holiday activity, and the kids will love it!

Holiday Cactus
These are also becoming very popular this time of year. They produce bright magenta, pink, white or lavender blooms. They're not difficult to care for, either.

While the plant is in bloom, allow one quarter of the soil to dry between waterings, and provide a flowering plant food. Several weeks after flowering, the holiday cactus will go dormant. When this happens, simply follow these steps:

Discontinue fertilizer. Water only enough to keep it from completely drying out.

Wait for new growth before resuming the watering and feeding schedule mentioned above.

To initiate flowering, long nights, with 14 to 16 hours of darkness are necessary. Mother Nature is providing nearly the maximum dark time along about now, so that's not a problem. Cool temperatures are necessary to initiate flowering, around 50°F to 65°F.

Once buds have formed, do not change the plant's position in light. This may cause buds to stretch and drop, as will improper watering, low humidity, drafts or sudden environmental changes.

So stop by any Frank's and pick up these traditional holiday houseplants. They'll add that something "special" to your holiday scene.

Horoscope

Wednesday, Dec. 13
The moon is in now Virgo, producing a lucky climate in which long-unappreciated workers finally get the chance to regain their self-esteem and move into more responsible positions. Health-care recipients find that insurance companies and hospitals are actually agreeable. Long-acquainted lovers decide to marry or move in together. Difficult financial situations can be positively reoriented.

ARIES (March 21-April 19). Give yourself permission to enjoy yourself. You succeed now by doing the outrageous. Present projects, and send memos — you'll get concessions. Let a lover talk — this discussion smoothes the way for new intimacy.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20). Keep records, files and receipts — they'll be worth their weight in gold. A relative needs time to think about a request — then, you'll get your way. Anger in your family dissipates. All reconciliations prove worthwhile.

GEMINI (May 21-June 21). Go the extra mile and a windfall will be yours. How you act or present yourself counts more than background information. Gains come with sports and entertainment. Educational opportunities are good.

CANCER (June 22-July 22). Others know less than they admit, so heed your own counsel. A romantic timetable is unreasonable — give in just a little.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22). A job situation is less secure than others say. Submit proposals and send letters and resumes to insure your future.

TODAY'S BIRTHDAY (Dec. 13). You start a whole new life without the negativity and poor luck from the past. Acquaintances, especially Cancers and Aquarians, hold the keys to new jobs, money and prestige. In love, stop trying so hard! A wonderfully romantic Leo or Libra will come. Contentment is yours in July. Money follows in August. Partners receive windfalls in September. Move to an upscale environment next October.

VIRGO (Aug. 22-Sept. 22). Break a difficult task into many parts. Consider hiring expert help — it could save money.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23). Mistakes occur if you leave details to others. A last-minute phone call saves you heartbreak and worry.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 21). Be reasonable about progress. New equipment and methods are worth the hassle.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21). A simple question ends lots of speculation, saving you grief. Employers are financially stressed, but your job is secure.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19). Rewards come for sacrifices you made all year. Don't make rash moves just yet.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18). Establish a stricter personal code. Ask a pal to play matchmaker.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20). Cancel appointments and trips until you are ready for them. Back-off, and wait for a sincere romantic offer.

Lively Taste

Buttery toppings on popcorn move it away from the healthy range. Air-popping machines make, unburned, perfectly-popped popcorn every time without fat or calories from oil. Plain popcorn by the cup has 2.5 grams fiber and 26 calories. When giving a popper as a gift, include butter-flavored sprinklings, a spice mixture and butter- or other-flavored cooking spray to encourage its use.

Health & Fitness

Medicine Chest

Two to 10 percent of healthy adults who take recommended doses of aspirin experience stomach upset. Taking aspirin with food or a cup (8 ounces) of milk or water often helps.

Fresh Picks

Tart fresh cranberries can vary in color from vibrant to dark red. New supplies arrive regularly in the supermarket, so always look for glossy, plump, firm berries. Dull or shriveled ones in the bag are past their prime. Chill cranberries in their original package or loosely covered up to two months. Most supplies will disappear in January. To use them year-round, cranberries can be frozen in their original package up to a year. Use them straight from the freezer without thawing.

Big Fat Tip

A luscious buffet of food can make mice of well-meaning, health-conscious men and women. To decide what to eat, survey the whole buffet, starting from the end -- preferably from the desserts, if they are a weakness -- to check for priority items, whether they be lobster Newburg or a plate-saving vegetable dish. Eat small amounts of favorite rich foods slowly to savor their taste and texture. Eat with your back to the buffet to avoid further temptation. Discard your plate after a first helping to avoid seconds; it takes 15 minutes for the brain to register the stomach is full.

Future Shop

Orange cucumbers may be on plates in a few years when a commercial line is developed. An orange cuke tastes the same as a regular one, but is in a vitamin-A league with carrots, yellow and orange squash, sweet potatoes and cantaloupe. When a child asks why he should eat his orange cucumbers, the answer can be, 'All the better for you to see with, my dear,' because vitamin A helps vision, bone development and the immune system.

COOK-EASE

By Janice Denham
Staff writer

At holiday time, cookies are not just for Santa. Thumbprints stay away from walls and police files, church windows are rolled in the kitchen and buckeyes are chewable as peanut butter. Nitey-nites cannot be touched until morning. Haystacks are more Chinese than rural American.

Purchased dough has broadened in appeal and flavor, with tie-ins to candies. Americans buy dough in the shape of dinosaurs and put chunks of raw dough in their ice cream.

That is how much they like cookies. Rules for cookies are simple and variations usually are as delicious as the originals:

- Ingredients at room temperature blend more smoothly. Measure ingredients accurately.
- Switching the fat changes results. Use "regular" products, because air or water may have replaced some fat in tub spreads, whipped spreads, reduced-fat margarines and margarine-type products.

Coniferous Trees

Melt a 6-ounce bar of white candy coating or white chocolate chips according to directions on package.

Using twelve (5-inch) sugar cones in all, hold a cone by the tip and, using a spoon or fork, drizzle melted coating randomly over cone. Sprinkle with sugar crystals or candy so they adhere to coating. Set cones on sheet of waxed paper to harden. Dab a bit of coating on point of cone. Attach more colored sugar in a contrasting color or other tiny candies.

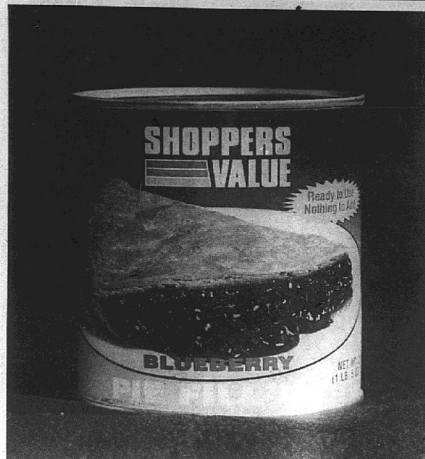

At serving time, place each decorated cone on a dessert plate. Serve a scoop of peppermint ice cream next to the cone. If desired, sprinkle tiny colored or silver candies over ice cream and plate.

Private Label Test Run

Tasters checked out Shoppers Value blueberry pie filling from Dierbergs to see whether it would make a sweet topping or tasty pie for the holidays.

Pie filling appeals as sweet topping

Pie filling is like a favorite bunny in town. When it comes to desserts and toppings, it keeps going and going and going.

Suburban Journal testers tried Shoppers Value blueberry pie filling from Dierbergs to see if it would work in its multiple uses straight from the can to top ice cream, pound cake or pancakes, baked on cheesecake, and also in pie itself. Ironically, it received higher marks as a topping than plain as pie. Most testers thought it should be perked up in flavor with a little almond extract or cinnamon.

Still, they considered it a good buy for the money, $1.57 for a 21-ounce can. The product was used on vanilla wafers, on mini cheesecakes and straight from the can for pie. "Blueberries have a good texture and consistency, a nice color, and the filling has a good consistency, too. I'd like to taste a little more blueberry 'bite,' but they blend well with other flavors," a taster said.

"The cheesecakes with the blueberry filling are very good," a taster added. Another liked the level of sweetness. "It also is not overly sweet, which is good," she said.

One mentioned it would offer a nice diversity on the holiday tray of sweets.

"Everyone thinks of using cherry pie filling, but blueberry offers nice contrast for a change of color and flavor," she said.

Caribbean cruise can fill stocking

If there is a special someone's holiday stocking that just hasn't found an item of the right size yet, a trip to the Caribbean could be the perfect fit.

The Suburban Journal cruise to the southern Caribbean will be a treat for the senses.

Magnificent sun and surf, sumptuous food and elaborate pampering, side trip opportunities and special food-oriented features will cover a seven-day event on the Zenith, which sails March 16 from San Juan, Puerto Rico.

Food editor Janice Denham will navigate the food events to keep everyone on course.

For information, call Altair, 919-3500 or toll-free (800) 844-5598. Prices, including air fare from St. Louis to San Juan, begin at $1,148 per person.

Rice

• Substituted ingredients should be the same consistency — liquid for liquid, solid for solid.

• Shiny cookie sheets are best for light even browning. Air-layered sheets do not brown cookies as well, so let texture, rather than color, indicate doneness.

• Let cookie sheets cool slightly before baking the next batch or the cookies may not hold their shape.

• It is best to bake one cookie sheet at a time in the upper third of the oven.

• Check out cookies at their minimum baking time, earlier if they "smell" brown. Thirty seconds to a minute can determine true doneness. Tops of cookies should be soft to the touch.

• Follow directions for cooling cookies. Unless otherwise instructed, they should finish cooling completely on wire racks.

Heart-y Bites

Cooks play shell game with nuts in holiday food

While I may not mail all my holiday cards on time or wrap packages until the night before Christmas, I always make time for holiday baking.

What would holiday baking be without nuts? Walnut stuffing, peanut brittle, pecan pie and cheese balls rolled in nuts are a few delicious examples of traditional treats.

Nuts are good sources of dietary fiber and important vitamins and minerals, such as thiamin, riboflavin, vitamin E, calcium, phosphorus and potassium. For people concerned about heart health and waistlines though, nuts are very high in fat and calories.

While nuts consist mainly of polyunsaturated and monounsaturated fat, the total amount of fat inside those shells is so high they must be consumed with caution.

An ounce of pecans (about 10 whole nuts or 20 halves) has about 195 calories and 20 grams fat, similar to the amount in a 3-ounce hamburger. An ounce of walnuts (about 7 whole nuts) has 185 calories and 18 grams fat. An ounce of cashews (14 large) or peanuts (10 jumbo) has about 180 calories and 13 grams fat. Brazil nuts, filberts and almonds are similar in calories and fat content to these other varieties.

Imagine how these figures double, triple or more with each handful eaten. So what can a person who loves to eat nuts do?

Do not despair. Like with other foods, moderation and balance are key. Use nuts sparingly — no more than 1/4 to 1/2 cup per recipe — to add texture to baked products. They can be used effectively in small amounts to add crunch to grain, bean, salad and other vegetable dishes. A few chopped pecans can enliven an otherwise ordinary green salad when it is a featured dish.

Toasting and roasting bring out nuts' rich flavor, so less can be used. Toast shelled nuts by cooking them in a nonstick skillet over medium heat, stirring frequently.

To roast nuts in their shell, place them in a shallow baking pan and heat 15 minutes in a preheated 425° oven.

HONEY-NUT BREAD

1 cup skim milk
1 cup honey
1 1/4 cups whole wheat flour
1 1/4 cups all-purpose flour
1 tsp. baking powder
1/2 tsp. salt
1/4 cup (1/2 stick) margarine, softened
1 whole egg plus 2 egg whites, lightly beaten
1/2 cup chopped walnuts

Preheat oven to 325°. Lightly coat two 8-by-5-inch loaf pans with nonstick cooking spray.

In small saucepan, heat milk and honey over medium-high heat until very warm (120° to 130°).

In large bowl, combine whole wheat and all-purpose flours, baking powder and salt. Beat in liquid mixture.

Add margarine and eggs. Continue beating until well blended. Fold in nuts.

Pour batter into prepared pans. Bake in preheated oven 45 to 60 minutes until cake tester inserted in center of loaf comes out moist but not wet.

Wise Ways

Bread machine: hot and savory item under tree

One of the hottest kitchen appliances this holiday season is the bread machine. With prices for many machines now under $100, it is possible for more households to enjoy the goodness of home-baked fresh bread any morning of the week.

I've owned a bread machine a little more than a year and love the many different breads it produces. My family enjoys the wonderful smells that waft throughout the house, especially in the morning.

This year's models include more of the features I wanted on my more expensive model. A wheat cycle and a delayed cycle, one I use regularly which starts the bread about 12 hours later, are on some basic models. Other features I like on mine are for raisin bread and quick bread. While my family fits the 1 1/2-pound size of bread, smaller households will appreciate new models with 1-pound capacity and features of larger ones.

Bread machines are a perfect fit for busy consumers. Healthy, quality products can be produced without investing much time in the kitchen.

According to Eleanor Hanson, managing partner of Foodwatch, a Midwest-based food trends tracking and analysis firm, "Consumers are making trade-offs for so many things, for foods that are healthier, for time-saving meals. Yet there are some things they don't want to give up, such as great taste. They can get this from a fresh loaf of homemade bread."

The bread machine craze has spawned new accessories, too. Certified home economist Carol Schlitt is nutrition and wellness educator with the University of Illinois Cooperative Extension Service at the Edwardsville Extension Center.

EASY WHITE BREAD

1 1/4 cups water
2 tsp. butter or margarine
2 tsp. sugar
1 tsp. salt
3 cups bread flour
3 tsp. vital gluten
2 tsp. dry milk powder
1 pkg. or 1 1/2 tsp. dry yeast (not rapid)

In order listed, place water, butter, sugar, salt, flour, gluten, dry milk and yeast in baking pan.

Make room for fondue

Appetizers range from savory to sweet, but always are fun to eat. Nibbling by hand, fork or spoon makes them an adventure.

Nuts tend to be a combination of both sweet and savory when they are candied with a few spices. A few go a long way, both as a gift and on the table.

For a last-minute treat, combine 1 cup pecan halves, 1 cup walnut halves, 1/4 cup cashews and 1/4 cup dry-roasted peanuts in a medium bowl. In a 3-quart casserole, mix 1 cup sugar, 1/2 cup water, 1/2 teaspoon salt and 2 teaspoons pumpkin pie or apple pie spice. Microwave, covered, on high power 3 minutes. Stir well.

Insert microwave candy thermometer in mixture. Microwave on high power 6 to 10 minutes until thermometer registers 234° (soft ball stage).

Stir in nuts until coated with sugar mixture. Spread on waxed paper. Let stand until firm.

Break apart. Store in airtight containers.

For an old treat made new, give fondue a chance. In its first life, the party rage of the '60s was heated on a stovetop and stayed warm over a candle. Now fondue pots have been updated, convenience products make preparation easier and a microwave oven heats and refreshes the flavorful mixture for dipping — which can come homemade from a bread machine, if desired.

If the fondue forks went out with a garage sale in the '70s, take advantage of table forks, wooden picks or wooden skewers. Available in most supermarkets for shish kabob.

Certified home economist Barb Gray specializes in microwave cooking.

In 2-quart casserole, combine cream cheese, cheese spread, half-and-half, Worcestershire sauce, garlic powder and cayenne. Microwave on medium-high (70 percent) power 3 to 6 minutes until mixture is smooth, stirring 2 or 3 times.

Stir in crabmeat. Microwave on medium-high (70 percent) power 1 to 2 minutes until heated through.

bag and seal. Squeeze with hands until very soft. Add sugar and vanilla. Reseal. Squeeze and knead until ingredients are well mixed.

Add oats and flour. Reseal. Squeeze and knead until ingredients are well mixed. Open bag. Scrape dough through with spatula and remove from bag.

Shape dough into 1-inch balls. Place on ungreased cookie sheets. Flatten with fingers or times of fork until 1/4-inch thick. Decorate as desired.

Bake in preheated oven 12 to 14 minutes until bottoms are light golden brown.

Send in pasta recipe to win free dinner

Virginia Alton, St. Louis, is the winner of this week's recipe contest for Black Bean Dip. She wins a prize of dinner certificates from the Pasta House Co.

This is an easy dip that needs only a fork to mix. Just mash black beans, then combine with chiles, creamy ingredients and a little hot flavor. The dip is refrigerated. Just before serving, Alton likes to warm the chips for add crispness and freshness.

Recipes in this month's Pasta-Perfect Recipe Contest should be postmarked by Dec. 31 for consideration as winner each of the five weeks in January, so there is an extra week to win. Just copy the recipe for hot or cold pasta that you are using tonight and it could be chosen.

One recipe per household can be sent to: Pasta-Perfect Recipe Contest, Suburban Journals, 1714 Deer Tracks Trail, St. Louis, Mo. 63131.

As usual, if there is a history to the recipe, it will be considered part of the entry. Along with taste and eye appeal, it will be used as a basis for selecting winners. Originality will be considered, although the recipe need not be original. If possible, name the recipe's source. Include the name of the Journal you receive.

Today's Food

Looking for a quick dish? Micro-cook vegetables

Is the holiday bustle wearing down the cook? Does the everyday kitchen chef need inspiration for quick meals?

Vegetables are the answer. Microwave ovens are a great invention for cooks in a hurry, but they also cater to health-conscious chefs because they cook food rapidly with little or no added fat. A bonus is that very little water is used, so fewer nutrients are lost in the cooking.

Vegetables — whole, diced, sliced or cut julienne — are cooked to a tender state without destroying their natural texture. It brings out subtle vegetable aromas and retains their full, natural flavor.

HARVEST VEGETABLE CURRY

- 2 carrots, sliced

- 1/2 cup chicken or vegetable stock or water
- 2 tsp. lemon juice
- 3 cups hot cooked brown rice, couscous or bulgur
- 1 tsp. chopped fresh cilantro or parsley

In bowl, microwave carrot, squash and zucchini, covered, on high power 6 minutes. Add garbanzo beans. Microwave 1 minute longer.

In separate bowl, microwave broccoli, onion and sweet pepper, covered, on high power 4 minutes or until they are tender-crisp. In small saucepan over medium heat, heat oil, curry powder, ginger, cumin, garlic and pepper flakes. Cook 2 minutes, stirring often. Add stock and lemon juice. Simmer, uncovered, 2 minutes.

Toss vegetables with sauce. Serve over rice. Sprinkle with parsley. Makes 6 servings, 263 calories and 4 g fat each.

PINEAPPLE SYRUP FOR WAFFLES

Cook 1/2 cup pineapple juice from one (16-ounce) bag of fresh-cut pineapple and 1/2 cup maple syrup over medium heat until mixture boils. Remove from heat. When ready to serve, stir in pineapple. Pour over waffles or pancakes. Makes 2 cups, 45 calories per 2-tablespoon serving.

FEELING FIT

By Mark
Lymberopoulos

When the whole family takes up activities together, kids learn that their parents value exercise as fun. Early interest in aerobic activities pays off in good health and fitness.

Watching your fat intake? Beware palm kernel oil and coconut oil. Though vegetable oils without cholesterol, they are highly saturated and should be avoided. Read labels carefully on snacks, crackers, and other foods.

To ease leg or foot cramps, sit on the floor with legs straight, hold the top of your foot and pull it toward you. It helps to knead the calf muscle, too. When pregnant women crave pickles, it may indicate a sodium deficiency, says a nutritionist at the University of Minnesota. (Enjoy the pickles, as long as your ankles don't swell.) It would take 20 minutes of chopping wood to work off the calories in a martini. Sort of makes you think twice about having another, doesn't it?

CHIROPRACTIC COMMENTS

By
DR. WALTER B.
HEIDKE
D.C.

Backache is painful! When your back aches, you hurt all over. Backache affects 70 million Americans each year...they know how miserable it can make them feel!

To avoid backache, try to lessen the strain on the back while strengthening back and stomach muscles. Remember to "stand tall, sit tall." Maintain your weight balanced so that your spine maintains its normal shape. Lift with your legs...flex your knees and squat to pick things off the floor.

Neglected back muscles permit spinal misalignments to happen, with resultant pain. Chiropractic can help. Phone for an appointment.

TOMATO MELTS
 Split and lightly toast 4 English muffins. Top each half with 1 thin slice tomato, 1/2 tablespoon crisply-cooked and crumbled bacon, and 1/2 tablespoon salsa or chili sauce. Broil 1 to 2 minutes until cheese is just melted. Serve warm.

Delicious gifts come in packages of all sizes

From the tempting aromas of sugar and spice in the kitchen to the smiles they bring at friends' and neighbors' doors, few gifts have the impact of home-made treats.

When time is taken to plan and create edible gifts, the tradition takes on special meaning. Packaged with a little something extra in a fun-filled container, they become unforgettable.

To go the route of home-baking for the holidays, a well-loved recipe should not be too complicated and yield food that travels and keeps well.

Here are ways to wrap Date and Nut Scones to be a winner in all gift-giving categories — delectable flavor, ease and "keep-ability."

• Line pretty boxes decorated with matching lids with colorful tissue paper or clear cellophane gift paper. Wrap the treat so it is airtight and place it inside, along with the recipe copied on a card. Add another surprise — a little stuffed animal, tree ornament, package of dates or a half pound of good coffee. There is no need to wrap. Just tie it with a bow.

• Wrap scones in airtight covering, put them on a holiday tray, then cover it all with a new linen tea towel and sprig of holly.

• Present the gift on a lacquer serving tray with a border and handles.

• Present a couple scones, candies or small cookies in an inexpensive jewelry box with a piece of holiday costume jewelry.

• Slip a wooden spoon, whip, rubber spatula or other new kitchen tool in the ribbon around the package.

• Present a snacking set: scones, whole nuts, dates, crisp apples and a nut-cracker in a basket.

- 2 eggs
- 1/2 cup low-fat milk
- 1 cup pitted dates, snipped
- 1/4 cup toasted slivered almonds

Preheat oven to 400°. Coat baking sheet with non-stick cooking spray.

Combine flour, sugar, baking powder and salt in bowl. With pastry blender or 2 knives, cut margarine into flour mixture until crumbly. Make well in center.

Separate one egg, reserving egg white. In small bowl, lightly beat egg yolk, whole egg and milk until blended. Pour into well. Stir until dough cleans side of bowl. Stir in dates and almonds.

Turn dough onto lightly floured surface. Knead about 10 times. Pat dough into 6 1/2-inch circle. Cut circle in 6 wedges.

Place wedges 1-inch apart on prepared baking sheet. Lightly beat reserved egg white and brush on dough.

Bake in preheated oven 15 to 20 minutes until done.

DATE AND NUT SCONES

- 2 cups flour
- 1/4 cup sugar
- 2 tsp. baking powder
- 1/2 tsp. salt
- 1/4 cup (1/2 stick) margarine

"P.S. Thanks for filling up the car," with gas ~ nice touch.

The way we see it, just because you're buying a used car doesn't mean you should get second-rate treatment. That's the reasoning behind the Saturn Certified Used Car process, anyway. Used cars ~ Saturns and other makes ~ sold in the same respectful, pressure-free way that we sell our new ones. We think you'll like the change. Hope to see you soon.

Most used cars we sell are backed by a limited warranty, not to mention the fact that it undergoes a thorough, 150-point plus inspection and reconditioning process. Each one is also cleaned and given an oil and filter change. To top it off, a 3-day money-back guarantee and a 30-day/1,500 mile trade-in policy are included, as well. Only at participating facilities. © 1995 Saturn Corporation.
